

Anna Kellogg

UX/UI Designer

Contact Information:

Email: annamkellogg@gmail.com

I am ambitiously studying modern design practices and work flows to make myself an asset through applied coursework. These design practices involve User Experience and User Interface design which I am actively learning about and practicing. Through user testing I have been able to learn how to design a product to make it more user friendly as well as beautiful. These have also increased my knowledge and skills with problem solving, communication, planning, as well of translation.
